EDITORIAL

Nigerian Library and Information Science Trends (NLIST) aims at creating avenues where library and information professionals would share their experiences and research findings. The articles in this issue which is volume 8, No. 1 focus attention on various aspects of librarianship. Ogbomo, Ibrahim and Usuf discussed "Customer-oriented marketing". Quadri and Ezomo-Ajiwe investigated "The role of management information systems in decision making", Ojeabulu, Osaze and Uwazurike examined the "Awareness and use of information sources and services on the productivity of faculty members in a Nigerian specialized university". Tabuke, Solanke and Igbinovia surveyed "self-efficacy and resilience among library personnel". Owoeye and Ali explored the "Management and use of hybrid library services: problems and prospects". Usuf and Awoyemi looked into "Reading habit of users as determinant of the utilization of library and information resources in two selected public libraries in South-west, Nigeria". Oduagwu and Oduagwu surveyed the "Nigerian copyright regimes and the challenges of information resources management In a global age", while Ojei unraveled "affectivity, information searching, information politics and creative problem solving of library managers', Finally, Ogbomo and Achugbue studied "Social networking sites as marketing tools for library products and services in university libraries in Delta State, Nigeria".
